BOOK

New Lefts: The Making of a Radical Tradition (Princeton University Press, September 2021)

How do you keep radical politics forever young? From the 1920s through the '60s, German and other European “new lefts” thought they had the answer. As the first long-term history of neoleftism, this book examines attempts by antifascists, left socialists, and anti-authoritarians to build sustainable and internally democratic alternatives to Social Democracy and Communism.

Short-listed for the Council for European Studies Book Award.

Reviewed in Boston Review (Nov. 4, 2021), n+1 (Nr. 42, Spring 2022), The New Journal (Mar. 15, 2022), Intellectual History Review (June 30, 2022), Haaretz (July 5, 2022), and Marx & Philosophy Review of Books (July 23, 2022).
